Spy Pond Hockey

ARLINGTON BOYS love hockey, and these boys find it to their liking on Spy Pond. They cleared the ice of New Year's Day snow and flooded the cleared area with water and now they have themselves a game.

To Start By Mid-April

Route 2 Landscaping Discussed

Landscaping of the area along Rte. 2 from Lake st. to the Lexington line is expected to be underway sometime in mid-April.

Robert W. Richardson, Roadside Development Engineer of the State D.P.W., and Andy Garrity, designer of the plans for landscaping the area, met with the Board of Selectmen Monday night, to explain where the landscaping would take place and the type of planting to be done.

A map covering the length of the highway to be landscaped was placed on the wall in the chamber of the Board of Selectmen so that Garrity might better explain the work planned.

Among those present were Frank Wright, Director of Properties and Natural Resources; representatives of the Conservation Commission; and John Worden, President of the Conservation Association.

Garrity explained that there would be as much reforestation as possible. Included in the planting would be plants of all sizes including willows and cherry 10-12 feet high which will be planted along the shores of Spy Pond between the sidewalk and the pond itself.

Garrity said that over 600 pines of one type or another would be planted along the roadway. Other trees and shrubs to be planted include 10-12 foot Norway maples, winter creepers to be utilized as ground cover; these will be about 2 1/2 - 3 inches high. Other ground cover will include 15-18 inch high juniper.

Also to be planted are Japanese black pine; five to six feet high; Canadian hemlock and arborvitae both 8-10 feet in height; forsythia two to three feet high; red cedar and red oak, three to four and six to eight feet high respectively; Austrian pine and Colorado spruce, both four to five feet high and woodbine which will serve as ground cover.

Garrity explained that Boston ivy would be planted in the great wall sector on the easterly side of Rte. 2. The ivy, he noted would be planted at the bottom of the walls, and also in crevices where soil has accumulated on the sides of the walls. Pines will be also planted at the top of the wall.

There will be pine and spruce adjacent to the pedestrian walkway on the easterly side of the hill and pine and juniper in the Dow ave. sector with forsythia and maple at the interchange at Pleasant st.

Garrity explained that the purpose of the planting would be to provide a little relief from the bleakness along the roadway, but on the other hand not to make it look like something that never was.

In addition to the planting, the area alongside the highway will also be loamed and seeded.

Garrity explained that it is hoped that the area alongside Spy Pond would be as rustic as possible. He added that the plan is not a final one, but that there are a few sections yet to be worked on. "All in all," Wright said, "the plant material is excellent." He went on to say that the planting would compliment the shrubs and trees that are already on private property in the area.

Dave Wallace of the Conservation Commission said the D.P.W. has been very cooperative. He stated that the plan will help the town achieve the plan of the Conservation Commission which would provide walking areas either on Rte. 2 or on adjacent side streets from the Cambridge line to the Lexington line.

Richardson said that he hoped the work could be advertised by March 1.

Worden asked about the construction of bus shelters along the landscaped area. Selectman Chairman Arthur Saul said he felt the shelter question was out of the jurisdiction of the Richardson's department.

The letter read in part as follows: "A bus stop on the off ramp from Route 2 would create a traffic hazard for vehicles entering the ramp and an opening in the fence will invite young people heading for the skating rink to cross over Route 2 instead of using the sidewalk along Lake st."

State DPW Opposes Lake St. Bus Stop

Selectmen will ask Town Manager Donald R. Marquis to check further into the possibility of a bus shelter at Wilson ave. and the easterly exit to Lake st.

The Board decided to have Mr. Marquis look into the matter once again, and also to check into the possibility of a "turnstile" type gate in an entrance to a fence in the area.

The action came after a communication from S. F. Mistretta, District Highway Engineer of the State D.P.W., was in opposition to the bus stop at the location.

Selectmen had written to the DPW relative to the matter Dec. 6.

The letter from Mistretta explained that the D.P.W. is in opposition to the bus stop and access provision at Wilson ave. in the interest of highway safety.

The letter read in part as follows: "A bus stop on the off ramp from Route 2 would create a traffic hazard for vehicles entering the ramp and an opening in the fence will invite young people heading for the skating rink to cross over Route 2 instead of using the sidewalk along Lake st."

Listing Of Persons Started January 2

The Annual Listing of Persons seventeen years of age or older, by the Registrars of Voters was started in Arlington, Saturday.

Past true lists included only those over 20.

This list is to include any person who is temporarily away from home serving in the armed forces, attending school or college, working out of town, confined in a hospital or traveling or visiting whose place of legal residence is in Arlington on Jan. 1, 1971.

Seek Moratorium On School Building

Ten registered voters will seek the passage of two articles relative to school programs in Arlington.

At the same time, the Council on Aging has requested the insertion of two articles in the Annual Town Warrant.

One of the ten registered voter articles would request the town to declare a moratorium on all municipal and public school building expansion programs that are funded entirely by taxes; the second would request the town to implement a year-round primary and secondary public school program with such matters."

The one Council on Aging articles seeks an appropriation "for the purpose of coordinating and carrying out programs designed to meet the problems of the Aging in the Town, and of advising and assisting other agencies concerned with such matters."

The second is "To see if the Town will vote to accept a grant from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Aging Bureau, or its successor, of a sum or sums of money for the purpose of conducting a "Health Education Program for the Elderly..."

The Highland Station

It is very seldom that folks looking at photos of buildings in the world will ever see one of a Fire House. We have one here in Arlington known as the Highland Fire Station, on Mass Ave. opposite Walnut St. It was built by a local company, the Arlington Construction Co., and was dedicated on April 26, 1928 to a former Chief of the department, Charles Gott. The cornerstone was laid by his son, former Selectman and Representative Hollis Gott.

There is a tablet in the station that was given by Cyrus Dallin, our famous sculptor, with the names of the Selectmen and Architect inscribed on its bronze base.

The building is of colonial architecture and modeled after the Old State House in Boston. On the top of the cupola one can see the Golden Grasshopper weathervane that is a copy of the famous one on Faneuil Hall in Boston. Those four lanterns which flank the main doorways are old street lights, relics of the time we were a village.

And now while we are on a fire bit, the writer remembers a boy with a conflict of interest worry as he watches his school burn down, knowing his new baseball glove is in his desk.

And speaking of schools, it seemed a principal of a high school broke his leg skiing over a weekend, and the pupils voted 820 to 819 hoping he has a speedy recovery.

And so as we enter a New Year won't it be great when football can be played indoors and we can have so many more much needed TV games. This is a cause that the Woman's Liberation Group can sponsor, and later they can take up the hockey, basketball, and baseball broadcasts and hold away with sex, abortion, murder, divorces, that seem to run a close second to the sports look-sees on the tube. This might just clear some of the pollution that we are told is so prevalent around us today.

The panes of glass on the windows have some highly prized purple ones so famous in some of the elegant homes on Beacon Hill. There is a window on the second floor at the top of the staircase whose frame was made from the wheel of one of the horse drawn apparatus with panes of colored glass inserted between the spokes.

The sign outside bears the name of the station and was made in 1864. This structure is both liveable and homelike, and a nice place to come after finishing battling a stubborn blaze. I guess about every kid who watched the horse drawn apparatus gallop down Mass Ave. secretly wished that sometime he too could be sitting up on the wagon holding the reins.

The fire whistles were sounded in those days and all citizens knew the numbers by heart, and could tell just what part of town the Firemen were heading. It was a bit eerie, though, to hear that fire alarm sounding on a cold wintry night at about 3 A.M. Many a little fire worshipper would awaken, count the box, and then slide comfortably back under the warm blankets. Hot weather fire fighters were they.

TO THE EDITOR:

A Last Tribute to Mr. Delmo Alberghini, "Our Gentleman Visitor."

Dear Sir: many times it has been said that our little pharmacy has "class." If this is true, it is due in part to our almost daily Gentleman Visitor, Mr. Delmo Alberghini, known to all as "Del."

He was a neighbor from around the corner who came to fill his prescriptions and buy his papers and sundries, but he paused to help in varied ways such as delivering a prescription to the furthest end of the town in order to help the busy druggist or giving a customer who had just missed a bus on a rainy day, a ride to her destination, or sometimes bridging the language barrier for a clerk who couldn't seem to understand a foreign customer's needs.

"Del" would tell one that he could speak seven languages "foolishly" as he was shy about bragging of his knowledge but actually he could even speak some Chinese. He also gave decorating hints to the staff and even cooking directions.

Mr. Alberghini was a man who thought positive, never negative. The local tailor, laundryman, grocer, minister, priest and salesman all greeted him with a hearty "Hello, Del."

For many years "Del" knew and admired our head pharmacist, Mr. Charles Maida, and they had many sprightly conversations during the long winter evenings drawing all those around them to enjoy "Del's" great sense of humor, but on a Sunday morning, no matter how involved the conversations around him became, he pointed to his watch when the hour for his church services came and said: "So long, everyone. I must hear the WORD now." He was a proud member of the Elks Organization and many joined because of his enthusiasm.

On New Year's Eve around noon, Delmo came into the store and bought his paper and chatted with the clerk, Mrs. Kelly, as he often did. Soon the clerk went about her duties and "Del" quietly slipped away forever.

Although he will never be physically our Gentleman Visitor again, his memory will be immortalized in the hearts of the customers and staff of his beloved neighborhood pharmacy.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth M. Gallishaw
(part-time clerk, Maida Pharmacy)

TO THE EDITOR:

As the Arlington United Fund Campaign draws to a close we are still $2500 short of our goal in spite of the efforts of 200 volunteers who tried so hard to do the work of a thousand and who were responsible for almost $19,000 pledged.

To those who have given so generously I want to express my personal thanks, as well as the gratitude of the many organizations who are so dependent on us for support.

So far as I am concerned personally, the Campaign will not be over until the $2500 deficit is erased.

If you have not yet had the opportunity to give (and many have not), please send your check to "United Fund" c/o Charles Blackmon, 17 Newman Way. Your contribution will be most gratefully received and promptly acknowledged.

TO THE EDITOR:

What literature should be allowed in our public library? Just what qualifications must a book have to be accepted by the library?

As many people have found, the popular book "Love Story" by Erich Segal wasn't found suitable for our Public Library. Why?

I asked a very nice librarian and she explained to me that there were just too many four letter words in the book. She did add, however, that she thought it was a cute book and that there was nothing she could do about it. No questions asked.

Today I was browsing through the Robbins Library and saw the book "The Godfather" by Mario Puzo on the Popular Fiction Shelf. I was shocked to see this book since I have read both "The Godfather" and "Love Story" and found more obscenity in "The Godfather" than all the four letter words in "Love Story." Most people who have read these books will agree.

I am not saying "Love Story" and "The Godfather" should or shouldn't be on the Library shelves. I'm merely using them as examples.

Is there anything that we citizens of Arlington can do in helping to select OUR books? The librarian I spoke to didn't have a say in the matter, but shouldn't we?

Yours truly,
Lois E. Kelly

EDITOR'S NOTE: Robbins Library Director Judith Stromdahl says, "Book selection in the Robbins Library is a function of the trained librarians on the staff who evaluate new titles by professional criteria, including social and literary values.

The Godfather was accepted for the former "Love Story" was judged to meet neither standard.

That Man About Town

By MAT

A Column of Opinion and Comment

Chairman Buzz Cooldge of the Board of Assessors will not run for re-election. "And that's official," says the man.

In public service for 24 years in Arlington and just past age 70, he's decided it's time to retire.

With three announced candidates already for the one open spot, a battle is shaping up. Jack Curran, Frank Hendigan, and Paul Cantrell all seek to bring new ideas to the board.

The town manager and the planning and development director are coordinating with the selectmen on a proposal to establish a redevelopment agency for Arlington. With Woolworth's leaving the Center and rumors of other stores being undecided about their future here, such an agency might be a shot in the arm.

The idea is for the agency to acquire key parcels of land, tear down the buildings, then sell or lease the property to the developer who proposes the best project.

Lexington redeveloped a large section of their center when the town meeting acted in concert with some private businessmen and landowners. But that incentive and leadership just hasn't been forthcoming from the private businessmen in Arlington.

We've seen some new signs and some renovations to individual pieces of property in the center — notably Carroll Perfumer's and New England Photo, but nothing that parallels the kind of improvement that could be forthcoming with a redevelopment agency. We need a complete change in the business climate.

One encouraging point is that the manager and the development director are quite concerned about setting up the type of redevelopment agency that would be under close control of the Selectmen and the town meeting. They don't want another autonomous power structure here.

THE BOX SCORE: Selectmen's meeting, present: Saul, Abbott, Bilafer and Bullock. Absent: Greeley.

Robbins' Reviews

Shirley Utudjian,
Music and Art Department

THE INDIGNANT EYE by Ralph E. Shikes, 1969.

The Artist as Social Critic in Prints and Drawings from the Fifteenth Century to Picasso.

Since the earliest days of the printing press the print has been a popular media for use by artists in expressing their individual protests of existing conditions. This book presents a survey of the work of 150 artists spanning five centuries. Some are satirical, others compassionate.

The protests have varied at times for reforms of religion, politics and society. Extensive coverage is given to Hogarth, Goya and Daumier. In these days of social unrest there has been a renewed popularity of the print as art. This comprehensive study is therefore a welcome addition to the field.

JEWISH CEREMONIAL ART AND RELIGIOUS OBSERVANCE by Abram Kanof, 1970.

This is a particularly attractive volume which should be treasured as a welcome addition to any book collection, individual or institutional. The author and his wife are founders of the Tobe Pascher Workshop of the Jewish Museum of New York and have been frequent contributors to the Museum collection.

Religion has been an impetus to artistic endeavor and art has inspired religious feelings. This book will inspire both the artistic and the religious. Examples of art in various media are given including early temple architecture, ancient coinage portraiture, carved animal statues, illuminated manuscripts, gold and silver ceremonial objects and vessels, textiles, and prints.

One section is devoted to symbolism in Jewish ceremonial art. The significance of light to religious rituals as well as ceremonial objects and the commemoration of the various religious observances are covered. The text is enhanced by twenty-five tipped-in color plates and two hundred forty-five black and white photographs and reproductions.

Assessors Table Motion To Raise Country Club Tax

The Board of Assessors this week tabled a motion by member John Perry to increase the assessment of the Winchester Country Club by more than $600,000.

On a 2-1 vote, Assessors Walter S. Coolidge, Jr. and John B. Byrne passed Byrne's motion to table pending receipt of information about the practices of assessing country club land in Lexington and more information from the state on assessment procedures.

Perry's contention is that the Winchester Country Club's 48.46 acres in Arlington is assessed far below "full and fair cash value" for land zoned Residence A.

The present assessment is about 16 cents per square foot and a nearby private lot is assessed at 71 cents a foot.

He asked the assessors to raise the country club land to 45 cents a square foot which would double the club's tax bill, producing an additional $30,000 in revenue to the town.

The land is now valued at $32,500. Perry urged it be valued at $949,550. The Board agreed to take the matter up again in a few weeks when more information is available.

The Planning Board reviewed proposed changes in the Planned Unit Development zoning on Tuesday with interested residents, the Planning Director and representatives of The Mugar Group, Inc.

Changes under consideration would affect accessory uses, parking, and site plan review.

Also under old business on the tentative agenda are the budget and discussion of the plan to have almost 100 Junior High East pupils meet in classes at the Boys' Club, starting this month.

The superintendent's report will include discussion of the paid lunch aide program which started this week and of the free and reduced lunches which also started.

Residents Petition Route 2 Plowing

A petition asking the State DPW to plow snow to the other side of their street has been signed by residents of the Concord Turnpike.

According to Aubrey B. Whynaught, spokesman for the residents, their complaint has to do with plowing along the service road off of Route 2 from Cedar street to Pleasant street.

This road has sidewalk on the Route 2 side and houses and driveways on the other side. The neighbors, who identify themselves as "mostly retired and older men" ask the DPW why the snow cannot be plowed to the left of the road instead of to the right and into their driveways.

Whynaught suggests that the DPW plows either turn their blades or plow in the opposite direction to direct the snow away from the homes.

He says he realizes that since this might not be possible on many streets an auxiliary machine follow the plows and clear the driveways of the elderly and widowed.

A spokesman for the DPW district says that the snow is plowed to the right for two reasons—the blades are fixed on the equipment to plow that way and the street is one way, so they cannot drive in the opposite direction.

He says there is little call for lefthand plows and none are available. The spokesman also noted that the DPW would not want to plow to the left against the fence above Route 2 and weaken or damage the fence along which pedestrians walk. He said the situation is being studied.

The 30 inches which fell in December set a new record for the month, according to Jack Bowler, Administrative Assistant of the Arlington Public Works Dept.

According to Bowler, the Dept. of Public Works plowed during the storm New Year's Day and removed snow from in front of churches and funeral homes and cleaned up any trouble spots, Saturday.

He said that there were several problems with plowing because of parked cars during this particular storm.

Listed as locations where cars were parked were the dead end of Coolidge rd., Grandview rd. from Pine Ridge rd., Aberdeen rd. and Setkirk, Madison ave., Garrison rd., Damon pk. and Spring ave.

Tree In Memory Of Arthur McAvoy Given For Park

Contributions for a tree in memory of Arthur L. McAvoy have been donated to the Cooke's Hollow park fund.

Other donors during the past week include Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gearin, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin L. Moltman, Joanne O. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Gariety.

by Lorus J. and Margery Milne

All parts of the globe have been considered: the tropics, the North Pole, Eurasia and North America, New Guinea and isolated islands, even the sea and its coasts and floors. This is a strong, informative work to deepen one's understanding of the forces of nature and which will further arm those who would combat the pollution man kind has wrought on this planet. $17.50

Car Talk

By John Flatley

STARTING A COLD ENGINE

Often, winter starting problems are caused by driver technique rather than mechanical failure. For instance, if the engine turns over strongly but does not fire, it could be due to improper starting procedure. Depress the accelerator partially (this sets the automatic choke and fast idle), then start cranking. If the engine doesn't start in 10 to 15 seconds, turn the ignition off and wait a few seconds. Don't pump the accelerator.

If there's a strong odor of gasoline, the engine is probably flooded. Press the accelerator to the floor and hold it there while turning the engine with the starter in five-second bursts. Longer grinding can damage the starter and weaken the battery to a point that it may get the blame. If you have time, it's a good idea to let a flooded engine sit for 5 or 10 minutes between starting attempts.

Your car responds best with tender, loving care. We specialize in TLC at FLATLEY'S SERVICE STATION, 93 Broadway, Arlington. Full line of Shell products. General tires.
